

ABSTRACT

INTERNATIONAL LAW ANALYSIS ON ONE CHINA POLICY AS CHINA'S EFFORT TO PREVENT TAIWAN'S INDEPENDENCE BASED ON UN GENERAL ASSEMBLY RESOLUTION 2625

Jhonson Halim

NPM:1551105

This research was conducted to study One China Policy which was issued by People's Republic of China's government about legitimacy over China land which also gave birth to Anti-Secession Law in 2005. The research was conducted based on UN General Assembly Resolution 2625 about the principle of international law especially the principle of equal rights and self determination.

In conducting the research, author has used judicial normative research method which is a method that study the research object by analyzing existing legal material. Author has also used statute approach which is an approach that analyze the existing codified law.

In conducting this research, author found that One China Policy has caused several impacts on international relations dan the independence status of Taiwan. Author Concluded that Taiwan has a different view with PRC government regarding the policy, and that there are incompatibilities between One China Policy and international law which are the UN Charter and UN General Assembly Resolution 2625.

Keywords: Policy, Independence, International.