The Effectiveness of The Use of Village Funds in The Payalaman Village Area Palmatak Sub-District Anambas Island

NPM: 1551016
ANDERI

Abstract

This study focuses attention on the factors that influence the effectiveness of the use of Village Funds. This research was conducted because in the village certainly has different factors, namely supporting or inhibiting factors in the realization of the use of village funds. This research is expected to be useful for the village government itself and also the Anambas Island Government.

This research was conducted in Payalaman village, as a recipient of Village Funds. Because the informants were chosen by the village as the village head, village secretary, and village treasurer who were considered to represent the research unit in the use of village funds and the realization of the Village Fund program. The study was conducted with in-depth interviews with parties related to village funds.

The results of this study indicate that in the Payalaman village have different factors in the effectiveness of the realization of the village fund program, and the Payalaman village as the research objective agrees with the factors that limit the realization of the effectiveness of the program. The use of village funds, so they need help from local government officials on an ongoing basis.

Keyword: The Efektivities of the use of village funds in the Payalman Village are Palmatak Sub-Distrik Anambas Island.