

Faculty of Economy
Tourism Study Program
Odd Semester 2019 / 2020

Internship Program in Pastry Department at Nikoi Island

Gita Aprylia ES
NPM: 1746027

ABSTRACT

The report entitled "Internship Program in the Department of Pastry Nikoi Island" is part of the practical work program implemented in the period of 1 August 2019 to 30 November 2019 is one of the requirements to be able to complete the S-1 Tourism Management Study Program. The report contains information specifically about the pastry division. In general, the pastry division is a division that is part of the food and beverage product that has the responsibility in processing pastry products. This pastry product consists of several types which are identified based on the components used and their texture. Broadly speaking, pastry products cover two scopes in accordance with the conditions in Nikoi, namely oriental pastry and continental pastry. This report also presents information about the techniques used by the author in the processing and equipment that supports the smooth operation. In an effort to obtain information such as that contained in this report, the authors systematically collect data in the form of observation, interviews and also documentation both written and picture. In the process of implementing this practical work program the author also begins with an introduction to the product regularly. It starts with learning about the recipe used and then continues with helping the manufacturing process by calculating the ingredients used to make a product and then continuing with the responsibility to make the product in accordance with the procedures previously taught. The author also slowly begins to handle the operational pastry as a whole with the opportunity to be present in the morning and evening shifts so that the writer can learn knowledge from each of the menus presented. Broadly speaking, the preparation of this report is information that contains activities carried out by the author during the work practice program on Nikoi Island. With the opportunity given to the author, the writer can gain knowledge more broadly than when the writer did in learning activities in lectures.

Keywords: Field Work Practice, Pastry, Nikoi Island